It would be so easy to ruin this book by exposing the story line. It is written in the format of the main character, Cal, telling us the story of his life as he experiences it. What an adrenalin filled futuristic thriller! The book keeps you wanting to read more, just eager to find out what happens next. Is the world Cal lives in real or not? Are the people he meets his friends who want to help or do they mean him harm? You just want to stay with Cal until the end of his story. It is well worth the read, I am sure that the teenage reader would recognise the feelings that Cal goes through. Go on give this book your time. It's worth it.
